

Environmental

Wood is the most environmentally friendly and durable asset that we have, provided it is handled in the right way. Well managed forests will provide timber in the future, and the Teak we supply has been sourced from well managed forest resources on a strictly sustained yield, thanks in part to the original efforts of a German, Dietrich Brandis who's detailed research provided government and forest companies of the day with invaluable information regarding the potential of well maintained forestry. These practices are still applied today ensuring future economic stability of the forest and continued supply of this wonderful natural material.

Affordability

Teak is without doubt the most desirable timber for boat construction and is surprisingly good value for money. With guaranteed durability and a pleasing appearance it is the natural choice. Robbins Timber offer exceptional value for money with a superb range of sizes & profiles.
